Guidelines concerning ESREA bursaries

These guidelines are outlined as a support for the PhD students who wish to apply for ESREA bursaries.

ESREA offers a limited numbers of bursaries for PhD students (or equivalent) who wish to participate in an ESREA conference/meeting. To be eligible to apply the student needs to be a member (individual or covered by an institutional membership) of ESREA, and the student need to have submitted a paper or poster proposal. Applications are made directly to the network convenors as outlined in the call for papers.

After deadline, the convenors, in communication with the secretary of ESREA, decides which students will receive the bursaries. The bursary is at the moment 250 Euros/person and should be used to cover parts of the costs for travel expenditures and/or accommodation during the conference/meeting.

When a student has received confirmation that she/he will receive a bursary, she/he should e-mail the secretary at andreas.fejes@liu.se providing the following information:

- Name
- Private address
- Name of bank
- Address to bank
- International bank account number (IBAN)
- Swift/BIC code of the bank
- A description of what costs the money is planned to cover (costs for air fare, hotel etc)

Based on the above information, the 250 Euros will be transferred to the students account as soon as possible.

By accepting the bursary the student is responsible to participate in the conference, and after the conference the student needs to provide the secretary with the receipt/s of the air fare, hotel etc, for which the bursary was used (the receipt/s sent to the secretary needs to cover the 250 Euros). If such conditions cannot be accommodated, the bursary will have to be repaid to ESREA.

If there are any further questions regarding the bursaries, you are welcome to contact the secretary at andreas.fejes@liu.se

Yours sincerely
Andreas Fejes
Secretary of ESREA
